

International Women & Technology 2019

Special Art and Science Prize

Sonia Bergamasco, actress and director

For Sonia Bergamasco, music, performing arts and science are not worlds apart. What unites them is an almost magical element: the power of creativity. A set of imagination, intuition and the ability to imagine, to have a vision. The same magic that is the basis of his work and through his artistic multifaceted and multiform: musician, director, actress and careful observer of the world. A real passion for everything that has sensitivity and discovery, which led her to use the language of art to speak to the public popular science, memorable characters and themes of great social importance, such as the man-woman relationship in the company today. That's why Sonia Bergamasco is a curious profession.

Rewarding: Laura Piazzini, journalist, radio host and TV author